

In Georgia, the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) restores family links, works to clarify the fate of missing persons and supports their families. ICRC helps people affected by the administrative boundary lines, improve living conditions for people affected by past conflicts, support mine victims, visit detainees and promote international humanitarian law.